The WRP is a recruitment and referral program that connects federal and private sector employers nationwide with highly motivated college students and recent graduates with disabilities who are eager to prove their abilities in the workplace through summer or permanent jobs. Annually, trained WRP recruiters from federal agencies conduct personal interviews with interested candidates on college and university campuses across the country. Candidates represent all majors, and range from college freshmen to graduate students and law students. Information from these candidate interviews is compiled in a searchable database that is available through this website to federal Human Resources Specialists, Equal Employment Opportunity Specialists, and other hiring officials in federal agencies.

This includes entry level positions or positions that would normally be posted. People with Disabilities/Targeted Disabilities: consider applicants with physical or mental disabilities for any position where the disability will not prevent them from doing the essential functions of the job. These principles apply: • Reasonable accommodations must be made to give people with disabilities, especially those with targeted disabilities, an opportunity to work in all areas of Exchange operations. • HROs should consider each vacancy a potential position for people with disabilities. • The Job Accommodation Network (JAN) is a national information network service to assist in your accommodation ideas under the rights and responsibilities of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The service is free. For more information: Call toll-free: 1-800-526-7234; E-mail: jan@askjan.org

3. When individuals apply for a position under a hiring authority that takes disability into account (e.g., Schedule A), explain how the agency (1) determines if the individual is eligible for appointment under such authority; and, (2) forwards the individual's application to the relevant hiring officials with an explanation of how and when the individual may be appointed.

That tool has to be re-licensed annually. The agency is in the process of re-enabling the tool for our use again to continue our ongoing testing and validation of our websites. When non-compliant issues are found, the Exchange will perform the required program updates in order to bring the specific site back into a compliant state. The Exchange Information Technology division has ensured the printers and copiers are 508 compliant.

2. Please provide the internet address on the agency's public website for its notice explaining employees' and applicants' rights under the Architectural Barriers Act, including a description of how to file a complaint.

The employee and applicant's rights under Architectural Barriers Act have not been published on our websites. However, this agency will address this and update the progress in future reports.

3. Describe any programs, policies, or practices that the agency has undertaken, or plans on undertaking over the next fiscal year, designed to improve accessibility of agency facilities and/or technology.

In GFY 2017, this agency purchased a product to assist with becoming 508 compliant. The focus is to target external websites, newly developed webpages, and sites that require major rework. Legacy systems will eventually be added to this list of priorities.

C. REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION PROGRAM

Pursuant to 29 C.F.R. § 1614.203(d)(3), agencies must adopt, post on their public website, and make available to all job applicants and employees, reasonable accommodation procedures.

1. Please provide the average time frame for processing initial requests for reasonable accommodations during the reporting period. (Please do not include previously approved requests with repetitive accommodations, such as interpreting services.)

AAFES is developing a new system that will provide the time frames. In GFY 2020, the system is continued to being developed and a joint collaboration with the Human Resources department was conducted to test data entry of the program. The development of report writing is still in the development phase.

2. Describe the effectiveness of the policies, procedures, or practices to implement the agency's reasonable accommodation program. Some examples of an effective program include timely processing requests, timely providing approved accommodations, conducting training for managers and supervisors, and monitoring accommodation requests for trends.

AAFES strives to ensure that reasonable accommodations are completed and ensures all request have been addressed and closed. Moving forward, AAFES will strive to address the timeliness within the program. This will also include looking at trends within the various occupations and types of requests. EEO/AAOFES office has developed an online training, "Supervising People with Disabilities." This course identifies an important foundation for supervisors and managers pertaining to the laws regarding people with disabilities. It will also enhance their ability to supervise talented and qualified people with disabilities.

D. PERSONAL ASSISTANCE SERVICES ALLOWING EMPLOYEES TO PARTICIPATE IN THE WORKPLACE

Pursuant to 29 CFR §1614.203(d)(5), federal agencies, as an aspect of affirmative action, are required to provide personal assistance services (PAS) to employees who need them because of a targeted disability, unless doing so would impose an undue hardship on the agency.

Describe the effectiveness of the policies, procedures, or practices to implement the PAS requirement. Some examples of an effective program include timely processing requests for PAS, timely providing approved services, conducting training for managers and supervisors, and monitoring PAS requests for trends.

For some individuals with disabilities, Personal Assistance Services (PAS) help make employment possible. People with significant disabilities use PAS, on a day-to-day basis in the workplace. PAS allows them to be at work and without which, they could not. Examples of workplace PAS vary, but may involve activities such as retrieving materials out of reach, putting on or removing outerwear, assistance with eating, assistance using the restroom, job related travel, services during telework, etc. PAS is not required to be provided for commuting to and from work or for medical services. AAFES will provide personal assistance services during work and job related travel for our eligible associates. To be eligible, the individual must have a targeted disability as listed in the self-identification section of the Exchange Employee Self Service (ESS) and the assistance must be tied to his/her type of disability. Once the PAS has been provided, the associate must be able to safely perform the essential functions of the job without posing a direct threat to their safety. AAFES has flexibility in providing PAS for our associates. AAFES can choose to work with a PAS provider, assign a current associate to perform these tasks as part of their primary job, or hire a full-time associate or contractor to provide the services. Associates will request PAS using the current Disability Reasonable Accommodation request procedure. The current timeliness is not being tracked, however, a new tracking system is being developed to accommodate the tracking of time, occupation codes, and demographics.
